

Technologies

Stay flexible

5/5/2022 , 1 min.

Short-lived trends, demanding consumers and increasingly digital processes call for great flexibility from the makers and shakers in the beverage industry. KHS' various new systems and solutions meet the requirement for maximum scope while providing future security.

PHOTOGRAPHY / ILLUSTRATION

LARYSASTOCKPHOTO

For more options in the product portfolio

With its modular design and technical optimizations, the new PET filler platform from KHS is perfectly equipped to cater to a growing variety of products and future market developments.

Click here for the article: ↗ All options open

For more product variety in a single pack

Now also in the high-performance range: a new configuration of tried-and-tested KHS machines enables different flavors of one beverage to be combined as a variety pack in the same secondary packaging.

Click here for the article: ↗ Packing diversity

For more choice in production control

Line monitoring or order management: thanks to new standard interfaces KHS machines can communicate with customer MES systems - regardless of their source.

Click here for the article: ↗ Mutual understanding